The scientific programme will include many challenging and changing aspects regarding Helicobacter pylori infection, new endoscopic approaches, screening and surveillance of GI cancers, new biological treatment modalities in IBD, new mechanisms in functional GI disorders, gut microbiota, management of diverticular disease, treatment of Hepatitis C.

To bring you the latest findings and global perspectives a concomitant EAGEN Course will also take place with internationally renowned faculties.

The Congress and the Course is organised under the auspices of CEURGEM, EAGEN (European Society for Gastroenterology, Endoscopy and Nutrition) and the Hungarian Society of Gastroenterology.
